Staff and Faculty

The students of North Carolina College consider themselves fortunate in having a staff and faculty which in addition to being well trained academically, has the rare quality of humaneness. Much of the success of North Carolina College students can be attributed to the unselfish interest and genuine concern of our faculty and staff. The students appreciate the guidance given to them and take this opportunity to say "Thank you."

Organizations

The students at NCC take pride in their many organizations. Through these organizations the student attempts to promote his social and cultural development.

The Commerce Club, the Home Economics Club, the Mathematics Club and the Social Science Club offer the student an opportunity to practice what he has learned in his chosen field of study.

The "Echo," the "Eagle," the Thespians, the choir, and the band are great helps to the student who is seeking an area of self-expression.

The recreational needs of the students are well met by the W.A.A., the Sharks, and other intramural athletic activities.

J. L. CHAMBERS
President, Student Government

Student Government

To perpetuate the ideal of self direction in molding the life of the students at North Carolina College, the Student Government and its auxiliaries attempt to give the student body as much freedom as possible in direction of their own affairs.

The Student Congress

The Student Congress is composed of students elected by their respective classes. These students under the leadership of Jerome Dudley get invaluable training in the making and executing of laws. They get face to face experience with politics and parliamentary procedures.

The Campus Echo

The Campus Echo, "The voice of the student body," is an award winning newspaper in which the students of North Carolina College take great pride. The paper voices student opinion and tries to keep the students informed on current happenings through provocative editorials and features.

Social Science Club

Members of the Social Science Club have as their objectives the recognition of the changes that are shaping our world society and the study of world situations.

Y.W.C.A

The Young Women's Christian Association is dedicated to promoting co-operation and good will among all groups and cultures. This organization's ends are achieved through the applied practices of its religious teachings.

State Student Legislators

Colleges and Universities from North Carolina compose the State Student Legislature which is dedicated to obtaining and maintaining the privileges of students everywhere to express without fear their desires and convictions. Such a purpose results in this mock legislature.

Political Science Club

Political Science majors make up the Political Science Club which has as its objectives the training of students interested in politics and government.

Biology Club

Interested students of biology make up the Biology Club. Membership in this organization usually stimulates students to take a more active part in observing and understanding both animals and plants.

Women's Athletic Association

Members of the W.A.A. contribute to social and recreational life on campus. Members are active in planning and co-ordinating dances, parties, and refereeing intramural games.

Presidents of Steering Committees

Men's Dormitory Government

Women's Dormitory Government

Women's Councils

The Women's Dormitory Council and the Women's Off Campus Council share the responsibility with faculty advisers of legislating, planning, and regulating activities and functions pertinent to the welfare of the dormitory women or off campus women.

Student Government Court

The Student Government Court tries all cases concerning student misbehavior except those which warrant automatic suspension. It is composed of graduate and undergraduate students. Samuel Chess is Court Judge; Moses Burt is Supreme Court Justice.

Commercial Club

A great segment of the student body belongs to the Commercial Club which is a rapid growing organization designed to encourage interest in commercial education, to investigate new opportunities in business, and to assist future stenographers, typists, accountants, in preparing themselves as business leaders of tomorrow.

The Choir

The North Carolina College Choir under the direction of Samuel Hill has won renown throughout the country because of its excellent performances of classical and contemporary music. The Annual Spring and Christmas concerts are events to which every North Carolina College student looks forward.

John Holley, Student Sports Publicist, Clifton Jackson, stellar ground gainer for the Eagles, and Herman Riddick, Eagle head mentor, discuss strategy of the Eagles' game with the FAMU Rattlers.

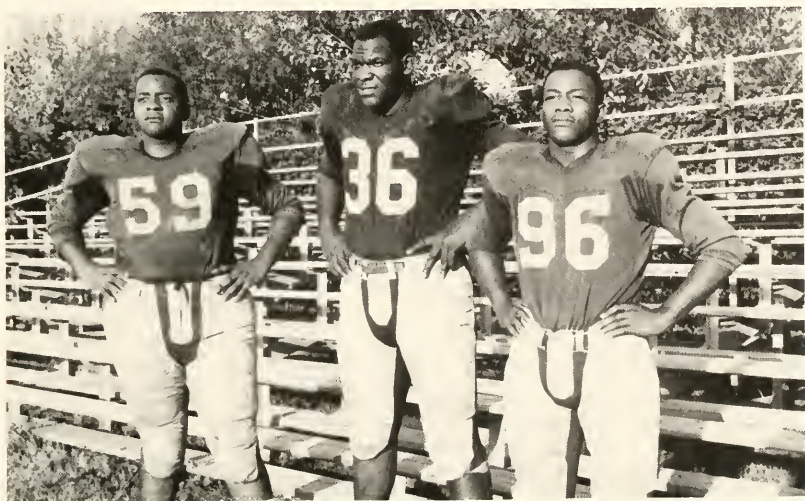

The North Carolina College Eagles romped through their first four games, looking like the "best in Negro gridiron circles," before they hit their skids in a 16-7 defeat at the hands of the mighty Maryland State Hawks.

The Eagles finished in third place in the tough CIAA, and dropped down to seventh spot in national ranking after topping the heap for the first half of the '57 season.

Picked as outstanding grid stars from this year's aggregation were John Baker, 290 pound tackle, an All-American and a top draft choice of the Los Angeles Rams; Baxter Hollman, All-CIAA tackle, and Clifton Jackson, the Eagles' leading ground gainer and all conference halfback. Other gridiron standouts were Frank Roberts, Joe Allen, Eddie Hudson, Charles Sanders, and Dearn Webster.

The haunting spectres of graduation are hovering over nine Eaglemen. Baker, Hollman, Roberts, Webster, Sanders, Allen, Hudson, Eugene Coleman, Tommy Stith, and Charles Baron are all expected to receive their degrees this year.

Raleigh lads Dearl Webster, John Baker, and Frank Roberts.

John Baker, robust senior All-American tackle. Baker was the 5th draft choice of the professional Los Angeles Rams.

Clifton Jackson, junior halfback, and the leading ground-gainer of the Eagles with 794 yards piled up on the ground.

Eddie "Magic Eye" Hudson, stellar signal-caller for the Eagle gridders, ranked as one of the top passers in the CIAA the past year. Hudson is a graduating senior.

See How They Run . . .

Not blind mice, but men smiled upon by Mercury, The God of Speed.

There is a momentary hush, and then the crack of the starter's pistol and the race is on. Swiftly and sometimes slowly they make the tape and the right to step into the coveted winner's circle.

NCC's feats on the cinderpaths may have been overshadowed by faster and bigger squads, but few have been more spectacular and brilliant. As a result they do not go unnoticed on the annals of our Sportscope.

CLASS OF 1959

The Junior Class of today looks toward tomorrow with great anticipation. They have already begun to see that their efforts to succeed were not in vain and that their attempts to climb the ladder of academic accomplishment were not futile.

These students are entering their long-awaited Senior year, much richer because of the many mistakes and disappointments of the last three years. They also have many rewarding memories which serve as a monitor to them when they hear the venerable title of "Senior."

Sophomores

CLASS OF 1960

The Sophomore class is now at the mid-point of its college education. The members of this class can now laugh at many of the things which were the cause of much concern to them as freshmen, and they are now concerned about many of the things at which they used to laugh. As rising juniors they are intent on developing their individual potential and on finding their places in the world.

Freshmen

CLASS OF 1961

The freshman class entered NCC with great expectations. They had heard much about college life. They soon learned that much of what they had heard was fact and still more was fiction. They found compulsory assembly attendance, the wearing of freshman beanies, and certain dormitory restrictions to be "thorns in their bed of roses." Before long they began to grasp the real significance of college life and their experiences in and out of class became more meaningful to them.

At the end of their freshman year, these students are constantly developing into mature individuals, worthy of being called "Eagles."

The Eagle Staff

Co-Editors of the Eagles

Dear Students:

Your 1958 yearbook is here before you—reminding you of the memorable events of North Carolina College this school year, of which you have been a part. Through this yearbook, the staff hopes that as the years pass, this 1958 EAGLE will stand as a monument to your participation, your indulgence, and your stamina in the perseverance of your college training.

We apologize for the inadvertent errors which we may have made, and in spite of them, we hope that you are proud of your EAGLE—for this is the picture story of your life and contributions at North Carolina College for the school year of 1958.

LILLIAN AVON MIDCETTE,
ALFRED E. RICHARDSON,
Co-Editors, The 1958 EAGLE.
